JAMIE CHUNG

UI/UX Designer

jamiechung97@gmail.com

Portfolio: www.jamieschung.com

EDUCATION

Wellesley College
B.A. in Media Arts and Sciences with Emphasis in Sciences, Minor in Psychology

Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Cross-registered Undergraduate Student

SKILLS

Tools
Adobe Creative Suite
Figma
Maze inVision

Design
UX Research
Prototyping
Visual Design
Usability Testing
Accessibility
Interaction Design

Programming
HTML/CSS/Javascript
MySql, Flask
Python, Java

EXPERIENCE

American Mathematical Society
UI/UX Designer — March 2022 - current Work with clients and stakeholders to design experience and navigation for web products, improve accessibility of online publications and journals, conduct user research and lead usability testing sessions.

Boston Academic Consulting Group
Data & Research Staff — 2021 - 2022
Led research for various programs, managed and maintained databases, introduced new platform to boost systems efficiency.

Brigham and Women's Innovation Hub
UX Design Intern — 2018
Implemented human-centered design principles to create innovative solutions in digital health related to hospital wayfinding and maximizing visitor experience.

Fluid Interfaces, MIT Media Lab
Experience Design Researcher — 2017-2018
Investigated and developed wearable system design for a gut-brain computer interface to meet interaction and usability requirements. Iteratively designed prototypes and conducted user evaluations in research setting.

Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
UX Research & Design Intern — 2017
Assessed and redesigned safety and hygiene signage for use in high-risk intensive care units. Conducted user research and evaluated feedback for improvement.

Wellesley College
Copy Center Student Manager — 2016-2018
Produced large-scale print jobs, handled documents for digital repository, operated equipment, and managed student workers.